

Ben Loves Socks!

By

Amey Montgomery

Ben is a pup who's full of joy, who loves his cat friend and all his toys,
He enjoys playing ball and running around rocks,
But the thing he loves most of all is....

Socks!

Ben loves socks that are bright,
Red ones that are spotty,
Ones with thick stripes,
And blue ones that are dotty!

Ben thinks that socks are perfect to chew,
So, one day he decided to swallow a few,
He gobbled them up and they tasted so yummy,
But now all those socks were stuck in his tummy!

He felt so pleased with himself until....
Ben suddenly began to feel rather ill,
His tummy was sore, and he felt very sick,
His owners took Ben to the vets, quick!

“Oh, dear me” said the vet, Doctor Moore, “You must never just leave your socks on the floor,
Ben thinks that socks are perfect to eat, Well, socks aren’t for tummies, they are for feet!”

An operation was needed to take them all out, Ben's stitches stopped him running about,
He had tablets to take and a head cone to wear, Ben thought to himself "This is so unfair".

Once his tummy was healed, he was able to run,
Ben could do all the things, that he thought was fun,
Like chasing balls and running around rocks,
All his favorite things, except.....

Eating socks!
